

The designer included plants to add life to the space and an element of nature to increase relaxation.