Awash with texture and rustic accents, the mudroom offers ample storage and acts as a way station between the garage and kitchen.

WAY STATION

In the final spoke off the kitchen hub, the family mud room keeps personal items organized. Rodriguez used a classic checkered pattern with a concrete-style texture on the floor. “Instead of a marble look, we used a product that feels a bit more textural and more approachable,” she says. Rustic cabinets with mesh cabinet doors allow for air circulation around stored shoes and other everyday items. Hooks keep jackets within easy reach, and a comfortable French mattress makes for an easy space to put on shoes.
