

Work with the family began in 2021, and phase one was completed in 2022. As the children have grown and their needs have changed, Rodriguez has been there. Including a lower-level redesign for the youngest of the two children. This year, the eldest child is graduating from high school, and the ping-pong room is being converted into a sitting room. “It’s so nice to see the progression of their family,” Rodriguez says. “As teenagers their lifestyle changes a lot. It’s been fun to keep up with them and help the house develop with their new needs.”
