

NEXT GENERATION

“The homeowners had a very distinct vision,” Yellen says. “I took their lead, and the home is a celebration of their upbringing, perspective, and style. I think it’s a lovely family home. Historic homes aren’t easy to renovate or maintain—there’s lots of quirks. With the help of my construction team and architect, we gave the home timeless longevity. It was a privilege to execute that in the best way possible.” When the homeowner was asked how she felt about the final result, she said, “We never want to leave!”