

Beautiful sunsets bid the homeowners a good evening from the west-facing windows of their primary bedroom.

Black French doors are the last vestiges of this formerly dark primary bedroom, framing the verdant view.

STARK CONTRAST

Formerly a severe space with black walls and ceiling, Serba uplifted the primary bedroom with a coat of radiant white paint. “I wanted everything light and very neutral,” he says. “We softened the room with decorative drapery but added motorized shades for privacy.”

As a special housewarming surprise, Serba painted the landscape above the couple’s bed. “I painted it from a photograph I took while walking the beach at my place off Lake Michigan,” he explains.

AVAILABLE AT MDC: Kravet | Lee Jofa | Brunschwig & Fils chair fabric and rug; Schumacher ottoman fabric.