

The office with its grayscale palette is framed with black metal glass doors and accented with whimsical artwork in bold colors.

DOWN TO THE DETAILS

The advantage in designing a home from scratch is that you can specify even the smallest details, including the drapery. “The home is very contemporary, and we wanted window coverings that followed suit,” Schumacher explains. “When the shades go up, they are completely out of sight and fit in a pocket in the ceiling.” Roby also points out, “glass doors with black metal frames offer some privacy, but the room still feels open and allows light to enter the space.”
