

ALFRESCO ENTERTAINING

“This is the homeowners’ favorite space,” Schumacher reveals. A NanaWall opens up directly from the kitchen into a stunning outdoor space where screens can be deployed to create a large entertaining area. “The outdoor dining table with a stone top expands for larger gatherings, which is unusual,” Roby observes. “They can enjoy the space early in the spring or late into the fall with four overhead heaters,” Schumacher adds.

When the homeowners were asked about their new home they said, “We’re thrilled! Our house feels exactly like we wanted and exceeded our expectations. From the initial consultation through project completion, Jill and Kirsten demonstrated everything we valued most in design professionals. Perhaps most remarkably, they demonstrated a master class in effective teamwork. Their seamless collaboration and complementary skills created a unified, efficient approach that maximized both creativity and execution. Watching them work together was as impressive as the final results they delivered. Jill and Kirsten helped achieve a modern aesthetic but made sure it was still warm and allowed our eclectic art to shine. We never want to leave!”
